

Germana de Oliveira Moraes

Co-founder and Guide of Pachamama Nation, eco-spiritual and cultural Movement (www.nacionpachamama.com).

Professor of Constitutional Law at the Federal University of Ceará, where she teaches since 1989 and currently has academic research projects. (CV: <http://lattes.cnpq.br/0346533270455854>)

Master degree in Law from the Federal University of Ceará – Brazil (1989), Doctorate degree in Legal-Political Science from the University of Lisbon - Portugal (1998) and Specialization (LL.M) in Psychology in the Training Course for career's of Women's Circle, Minas Gerais-Brazil. (2009).I. Post-Doctoral Degree in Socio Environmental Law (Pachamama's rights and Well living) from the Pontifical Catholic University of Paraná, PUC/PR, Curitiba, Brazil (2011-2013).

She develops studies and research of political content: Pachamama's rights; New Democratic Latin American Constitutionalism and Jurisdiction and South American integration; environmental content: nature's rights, the civilizational model inspired by the “Well Living”, the new water law and programs of food sovereignty and also studies and research of socioeconomic content: social rights and the rights of the “Well Living” as a model of sociopolitical and cultural emancipation.

Author of law books and several articles and essays published in legal specialized journals of national and international repercussions. She has participated in several conferences, lectures and seminars. Was the national coordinator of the New democratic constitutionalism Latin American Network, in Brazil (2013-2016) and now she is the Vice-President in Brazil of the International democratic constitutionalism.

(<https://constitucionalismodemocratico.direito.ufg.br/>)

Federal Judge in Ceará-Brazil since 1991, member of the National Council of Justice in Brazil from 2005 to 2007. Director of the Center of the School of Federal Magistrates in the state of Ceará (2011-2013) and member of the National Training and Improvement of Magistrates - ENFAM (2011-2013). She was representative from the Latin America in the International Association of Women Judges (2005-2007 and 2012-2014).